Stars are always getting caught out being a little shady on social media. Whether it's red-hot Khloe Kardashian getting busted – and then 'fessing up to – doing a little digital nip and tuck on her bod (see page 11) or Miley Cyrus using cheeky Insty snaps to throw fans off the scent of her baby news (page 13), celebs just love to trick us.

And, you know, I've gotta admit I've done it too, uploading the odd (uncredited but flattering) flashback pic.

But this one friend – let's call her Katie – takes the cake! Katie posted a pic of herself curled up on the couch with her cat after phoning in sick to a friend's 30th bash.

Only problem is, there were obvious inconsistencies in the old file pic (dated mags on the coffee table = dead giveaway), which had been posted from a location very far from Katie's home. (Turns out she was on a date. Busted!)

Note to self – always check for details. And turn off location services on your phone!

Enjoy the issue!

POOR KIM'S STRESSED & BINGEING

'I can't do this anymore'

The crisis-plagued reality queen is at breaking point!

Just weeks ago, she was boasting about being on track to get her pre-baby body back, gushing, "I'm 30 lbs [13kg] down today but 40 [18kg] to go!"

But Kim Kardashian looked to be struggling under the pressure as she left a Beverly Hills salon last week – uncharacteristically make-up free and clearly down in the dumps.

And given her troubles over the past month, no-one could blame the stressed-out reality star for tossing her Atkins book out the window and reaching for the churros.

Indeed, sources reckon Kimmy – who is mum to two-year-old daughter North and three-month-old son Saint – has gained around 5kg since debuting her initial weight loss at hubby Kanye West's controversial Yeezy Season 3 fashion show on February 11.

And she's beating herself up about it!

"All the fighting and stress with Kanye has been a huge setback and Kim has been turning to food in order to cope," says an insider. "She is just binge-eating carbs and all her willpower has gone straight out of the window."

But an increasingly unhinged

Kanye, 38, has shown no signs of toning down his bizarre antics.

After dissing Taylor Swift and crying poor on Twitter, Kanye went one step too far last week when he tweeted a cruel attack on respected producer Bob Ezrin, 66, calling him an "old man" and an "embarrassment" to his kids, one of whom is dead!

And as we reported last week, Kim's so fed up with her hubby's mean and humiliating outbursts that divorce is a very real option!

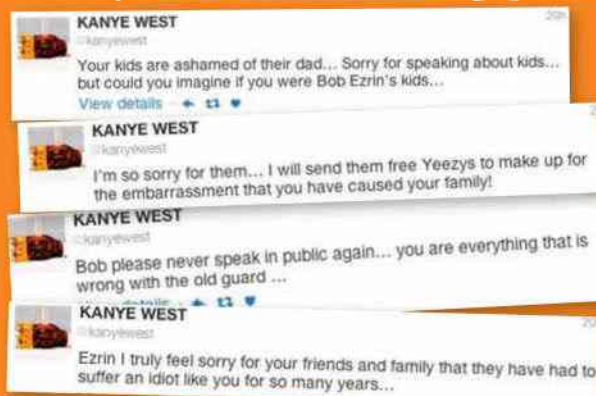

"It's been exhausting for Kim," a source tells US People magazine. "His lashing out embarrasses her."

Miserable and bingeing on her favourite fast food and sweet treats, Kim can't even turn to her mum Kris Jenner, 60, for a shoulder to cry on.

The Kardashian matriarch got so sick of her son-in-law's crazy behaviour last year that she moved out of her own Hidden Hills home, which she'd been sharing with Kimye, and into a $2.3 million condo

'KIM HAS BEEN TURNING TO FOOD IN ORDER TO COPE'

Kanye can't be stopped!

When celebrated producer Bob Ezrin posted a blog entry critical of Kanye last week, the rapper lost it!

"Kanye's greatest achievements have been in the form of excessive behavior, egomaniacal tantrums and tasteless grandstanding," wrote Bob – whose credits include KISS, Lou Reed, Alice Cooper, Pink Floyd and 30 Seconds To Mars.

And Yeezy responded with a next-level tirade, cruelly tweeting about Bob's kids, one of whom sadly died in 2008 aged just 42.

"Your kids are ashamed of their dad," Kanye meanly wrote. "Could you imagine if you were Bob Ezrin's kids." Um, what a jerk!

Making matters worse, at his 1 OAK gig in LA on February 23, the rapper went after Taylor Swift again! "She's not cool no more," he told the crowd. "She had two seconds to be cool and she fk ed it up." Put a sock in it, Yeezy...

COMFORT EATING

It's not the first time Kim's turned to food to cope with stress. In an episode of KUWTK, Kris referred to her daughter's past habits, asking, "Do you remember what happened the last time you got all stressed out and you were eating sugary stuff? ... You're like a closet eater. You need an ankle bracelet that goes every time you eat something bad."

Besides, Kim can't move out of her mum's pad even if she wants to, as the $28 million home she and Kanye own is still unfinished after two long years thanks to his rampant perfectionism!

What's more, with her sisters Kourtney, 36 and Khloe, 31, in better shape than ever, flashing their toned tums at every turn, it's not exactly helping poor Kim's body woes.

"Kim always wants to be viewed as the hottest one," a pal spills of the star's "extreme" jealousy.

But with two young kids to look after, threats to her brand and a possible divorce on her hands, it's no wonder she's put diet and workouts in the too-hard basket for now. Hang in there, Kimmy! ■

Khloe opened up about her future with Lamar!

WE'RE GEMMING MARRIED

Khloe and Lamar's second chance at love!

During the days immediately following Lamar Odom's drug overdose last October, Khloe Kardashian refused to even consider the possibility of a reunion with her estranged husband – and who could blame her? But it turns out her feelings for Lam-Lam never truly faded. “I still have a great deal of love for him,” KoKo confessed to Redbook magazine a month after the former NBA star nearly died following a drug-fuelled bender at a Nevada brothel.

Of course, these days Lamar, 36, is well on the road to recovery, and doing everything he can to prove he's a changed man. And despite once insisting she couldn't go back to him, Khloe's revealed she's toying with the idea of saying, “I do,” all over again!

“That would be like the best dream. I hope that first marriage could happen again,” she gushed on her talk show Kocktails With Khloe last week. “I need to get married again.”

But this isn't her first public declaration of rekindled love for Lamar. In an appearance on TV show The Talk last week, Khloe addressed reconciliation rumours, saying she wished she'd never left him.

“I love him with every fibre of my being. I think that's apparent,” she confessed. “I didn't want our divorce to happen.”

Which explains why she's so determined to give him another chance, going public with Lam at the Yeezy Season 3 fashion show in New York on February 11.

But last week, the 31-year-old – looking red-hot in a cut-out jumpsuit – admitted on Hollywood Today Live, that she feared the event would be too much for Lammy.

“I didn't want him to really go to New York,” Khloe reveals. “Is it too much stimulants for his brain? Everyone cleared him. He was good to go and it meant so much to Lamar.”

Still, there's a long way to go when it comes to trust.

“It's really hard to erase everything that happened,” says KoKo, who Lamar cheated on with many women.

“Just building a friendship is what I'm doing now... Just pure love. I want someone to learn to love themselves again.”

Proving just how committed they are, the couple are even attending therapy with a view to Lam-Lam moving back in once he's rehabilitated.

“Khloe's been hurt so much by Lamar in the past, she's being very careful,” a source tells Life & Style mag. “They've started going to therapy and have along road ahead. But she thinks they really have a chance.” ■

...again!

Keeping watch

KoKo says she “had a ton of anxiety” over Lamar's trip to New York last month.

KOKO'S CHEATING HEARTBREAK 100 OTHER WOMEN!

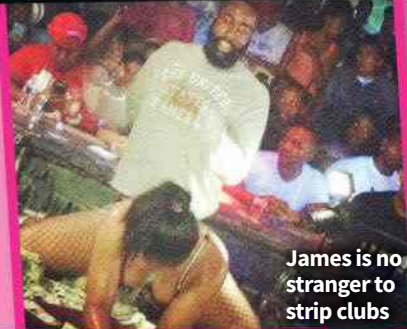

Poor Khloe just can't seem to find a faithful man!

In last week's episode of Kocktails With Khloe, the brutally honest host revealed the real reason she and her basketballer ex James Harden, 26, split is that he's a serial cheater, too!

"He sought me out, he wanted to be committed, you know, then wasn't committed. So KoKo had to let him go-go," Khloe dishes, even revealing she has "the receipts to prove it". Woah!

Of course, it's hardly the first time a man's done the dirty on poor Khloe. Lamar's believed to have strayed repeatedly, and friends reckon she's been cheated on almost 100 times since she's been in the dating game!

Girl's got a type...

KOKO'S PHOTOSHOP FAIL!

She's understandably proud of her banging new bod, but Khloe was left red-faced last week when fans outed her for doctoring an Instagram selfie!

"You can see the curve in the door [just] by her leg that suggests photoshop #nobuenokoko," one fan commented.

Keen to douse the flames of speculation before they took hold, KoKo quickly deleted the digitally altered version, replacing it with the original and hitting out at "haters"!

The thing is, there was barely any difference between the two pics. With a smokin body like that, you don't need no Photoshop, Koko!

She may have altered her thighs, but those abs are 100 per cent KoKo!

Stepping out for a hike in the scenic hills above Malibu on a recent February morning, there appeared to be something very different about Miley Cyrus.

Yep, onlookers were taken aback when they spotted the usually rail-thin wild child accessorising her grey sweats and sneakers with what looked to be an obvious baby bump.

Unable to keep her hands off her tum – or the smile off her face! – Miley's body language did little to disguise her big baby news, which has been all the buzz in Hollywood for weeks.

What's more, according to a close source, Miley and her rekindled fiancé Liam Hemsworth have confided to pals that they are expecting a bouncing baby boy!

"He's over the moon at this – his very own little surfer dude!" an insider tells NW. "They feel very blessed. It's a dream come true."

Indeed, with six months to go before the new arrival, Miley's been busy nesting since moving into Liam's Malibu home (see right).

And of course, their bub's nursery is top of the to-do list!

"Miley's already picked out the room for the nursery. She's absolutely bursting with excitement and Liam's just the same," an insider tells NW.

"He's wise enough to let her make decisions on the nursery theme – she's a hell of a lot more creative and visual than he is. Miley's very arty and she's going to do a lot of it herself."

But there'll be no boring pastels for Hemsworth junior! Think an explosion of colour and glitter.

Hey, she's just being Miley!

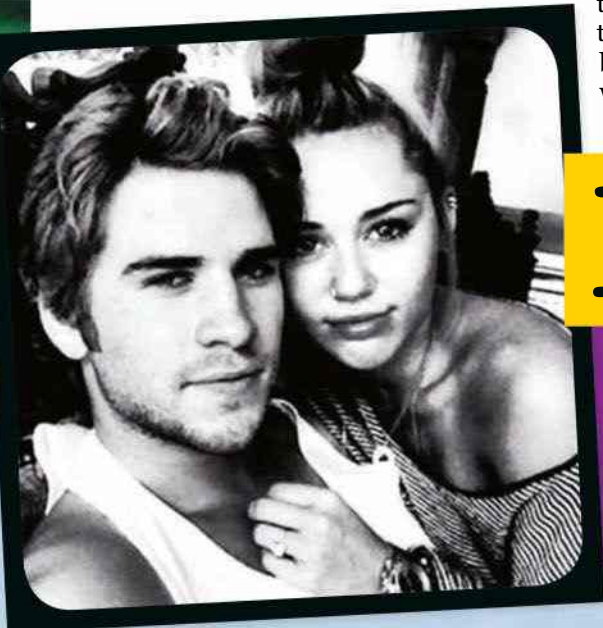

"She's big on glitter and glow-in-the-dark designs, so she's looking at lava lamps," spills our source. "She's huge on unicorns and rainbows, so there'll be lots of those! It's going to be a technicolour wonderland."

ON BOARD

WHAT'S MILEY'S IS NOW YOURS, LIAM!

And while Liam's happy to let his wife-to-be take the decorating reins, the Aussie hunk has offered to be a stay-at-home dad so Miley – who's signed on for a new Woody Allen TV series for Amazon – can fulfil her work obligations later in the year.

Luckily, the 26-year-old actor only has one film – Independence Day: Resurgence – lined up for the rest of 2016, leaving his schedule wide open for some quality daddy time. Too cute!

It's something clucky Liam has been preparing himself for for years, as a doting uncle to his nieces and nephews.

"I love my brothers' kids," Liam says of Chris and Luke's tots. "It's funny... you become so protective of them."

There will be no such public declarations of love for their own bub just yet! Eager to let the news settle in with family and friends, Miley and Liam are in no rush to make an official baby announcement.

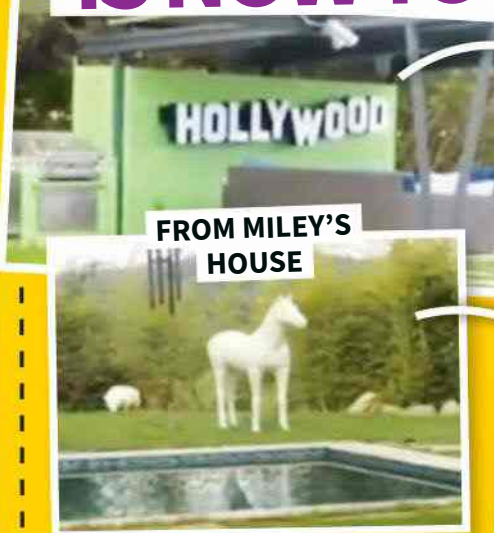

Instead, when the time is right, the pop star's going to let her bump do all the talking and the big reveal is tipped to be quite the spectacle – in true Miley style!

She's tossing up how to release her first bump pics, and has been looking through cool 'couple' photos from the '80s for inspiration.

"She was blown away by an old Rolling Stone cover with Prince and his girlfriend Vanity," the insider notes of the 1983 portrait, "and would love to do something like that."

We. Can't. Wait! ■

The singer's wasted no time making herself at home at her hubby-to-be's mansion in the hills of Malibu! From the mini Hollywood sign to the white horse sculpture, Miley's definitely brought her own, er, unique touches to their new family pad. But with a little Liam on the way, they might want to get a fence around that pool!

Miley's big smokescreen

She's keeping mum on her bun in the oven, but Miley's still up to her old habits. Or at least that's what she wants us to believe! Trying to throw fans off the scent, the singer's still posting shots of herself lighting up – including with a baby-bottle-shaped bong. Cue outrage?! Not so fast! "It's all an act," says a pal. "These are old. She's not even wearing her ring."

Kesha was crushed as she left the New York State Supreme Court on February 19

Inside Kesha's court he

The celeb troops rally around the star as she battles it out with her alleged rapist

Kesha was dealt a devastating blow on February 19 when she was told by a New York Supreme Court judge that she won't be released from her contract with Sony Music and producer Dr Luke, a man she's accusing of having raped her.

The crushing verdict caused a wave of outrage among the singer's female peers, with music's biggest names like Adele and Lady Gaga rushing to support Kesh in her darkest hour.

Big-shot producer Dr Luke – aka Lukasz Gottwald – resolutely denies claims that he raped Kesha 10 years ago when she was an 18-year-old virgin, and that he sexually and emotionally abused her for years after.

But on top of her contractual dispute, Kesha's also launched legal action against Dr Luke over the alleged abuse.

Her story first came to light in January 2014, when the now 28-year-old entered Timberline Knolls, a treatment facility near Chicago, for an eating disorder.

TMZ reports that while Kesha was undergoing treatment, she began telling staff that Dr Luke had drugged, physically abused and sexually assaulted her.

Once she left, the star filed a lawsuit against Dr Luke alleging sexual assault, gender violence, harassment, unfair business practices and intentional infliction of emotional distress.

Indeed, Kesha's deposition is a very disturbing read. There are two horrifying allegations of Dr Luke drugging and raping her – once on a plane and another where she recalls being forced to take “sober pills” – which she claims she later found out were the date-rape drug GHB – before waking up naked in the producer's hotel room.

28. Dr. Luke repeatedly threatened that if she ever told anyone about these abusive incidents, he would destroy both Ms. Sebert and her entire family. Specifically, after he drugged and raped Ms. Sebert, Dr. Luke took her down to the beach alone to “have a talk” with her. He threatened that if she ever mentioned the rape to anyone, he would shut her career down, take away all her publishing and recording rights, and otherwise destroy not only her life but her entire family's lives as well. He also threatened her and her family's physical safety. Ms. Sebert wholly believed that Dr. Luke had the power and money to carry out his threats; she therefore never dared talk about, let alone report, what Dr. Luke had done to her.

SCARED SILENT

In a deposition Kesha gave in 2011 when she and Dr Luke were being sued by a manager, she denied she'd had “an intimate relationship” with Dr Luke. But with court documents alleging that Dr Luke silenced her with threats against her career, Kesha has since said she was too scared to speak out against the producer.

Dr Luke wrote Kesha's big hits including Tik Tok

ell

Kesha burst into tears as the decision was announced on February 19

She then alleges Dr Luke “bombarded” her with insults about her weight, calling her “a fat fking refrigerator”.

The file continues with claims that Dr Luke told Kesha he’d “shut her career down” and take away “all her publishing and recording rights” if she spoke out.

And according to Timberline Knolls doctors, the abuse caused Kesha to suffer “depression, post-traumatic stress, social isolation and panic attacks”.

Addressing the claims last week, Dr Luke insisted they’re unfounded. “I didn’t rape Kesha and I have never had sex with her. Kesha and I were friends for many years and she was like my little sister,” he tweeted, blasting what he claims is her attempt to get out of a six-album Sony Music deal. “It’s sad that she would turn a contract negotiation into something so horrendous and untrue.”

However, following the court decision, Kesha – buoyed by the support of her peers – spoke out in a heartfelt Facebook post.

“All I ever wanted was to be able to make music without being afraid, scared, or abused,” she wrote. “This case has never been about a renegotiation of my record contract – it was never about getting a bigger, or a better deal. This is about being free from my abuser.”

She may have been denied the freedom she was seeking for now, but Kesha has a growing army of A-list allies to lean on.

And the messages are hitting home with the singer, who, according to Us Weekly mag, “Is going to keep fighting. She is blown away by the support.” ■

Kesha's army

Adele was among the mass of caring A-listers who let Kesha know she wasn’t alone after her court setback.

While the hashtag #freekesha trended immediately, Adele – a fellow Sony Music signing – threw her support behind the star as she collected the Brit Award for Best Female Solo Artist.

“I’d like to... thank my management and my record label for embracing the fact that I’m a woman,” Adele, 27, said in her speech. “I’d also like to take this moment to publicly support Kesha.” Girl power!

Demi slams Taylor!

Tay’s generous gift of money to the embattled pop star – to “help with any of her financial needs during this trying time” – was gratefully received by Kesha, whose mum tweeted, “Taylor Swift has just generously donated $250,000 to Kesha... AMAZING!!”

However, the donation hit a bum note with Demi Lovato who called on T-Swiz to stop hiding behind money.

“Take something to Capitol Hill or actually speak out about something and then I’ll be impressed,” sniped Demi on Twitter.

“Not everyone has 250k to just give to people,” she continued, adding she’d “rather start a dialogue about women coming forward about being raped than throw money at one person”.

When Demi was called out, she responded with, “I didn’t shade Taylor. If you take it that way then fine,” before eventually admitting she’d gotten too fired up.

“Although my heart and intentions are always in the right place, unfortunately sometimes my passion gets the best of me and causes me to say things I probably shouldn’t say,” she wrote on Instagram.

‘All I want to see is women coming together,’ Demi wrote. Er...

And now, after discovering flirty messages from a

teetering on the brink and ready to kick the 36-year-old rocker to the kerb for good!

Indeed, we hear a text to her

"Nicole has laid down

And Nic's not taking any prisoners. Not only must Joel's phone remain unlocked at all times, but the fashion designer has also made her man delete the numbers of the women who've sent him texts she doesn't approve of.

Wise move, girl!

And while Joel insists these text-message exchanges have been completely innocent, it's yet another red flag in a string of relationship dramas for the pair – who share daughter Harlow, eight, and son Sparrow, six.

In fact, despite Nic's father Lionel Richie, 66, slamming the recent divorce rumours as false, the source claims Nic's been consulting her legal team throughout the last 12 months.

And it's Joel's flirty ways and extended periods filming in Sydney that are said to be at the heart of the drama.

Indeed, over the past year, Joel's been linked to his fellow The Voice coach Jessie J, 27, and US The Bachelorette star Kaitlyn Bristowe, 30.

What's more, the Good Charlotte frontman was snapped leaving a Beverly Hills restaurant with a mystery woman last October.

"When Nicole saw the photos she was in complete shock," a source told US Star magazine at the time.

"She called Joel on it. He claimed she was just a friend but Nicole didn't buy it."

And now, with the muso's latest shady behaviour casting more doubt in Nic's mind, could it be the end for one of our favourite celeb couples?

Let's hope not! ■

Cam settled on surrogacy after trying IVF treatment for months without success.

CAM'S SEARCH FOR A SURROGATE

Cameron Diaz has long wanted to have kids, saying, "I do want my own family eventually, however that comes to me, whether it's through adoption or [another way]." And now the star and her hubby Benji Madden are turning to surrogacy to make their baby dreams come true!

Yep, according to the National Enquirer, the 43-year-old actress has begun talks with various agencies about selecting the woman to carry her baby with Benji, 36!

But insiders say Cam's being very choosy – so much so that she's insisting on a series of non-negotiable rules, including that any surrogate must be in bed before 10pm, only listen to classical music and live an ultra-healthy lifestyle.

"She keeps ruling out possible candidates for odd reasons, like the woman uses too much body lotion or she uses hair spray or eats red meat!" claims the insider.

What's more, Cam's considering having potential surrogates take a polygraph test, because she's paranoid they'll spill private details. Yikes!

THEN

NAYA RIVERA

Fans barely recognised the 29-year-old – who's rumoured to have had breast implants, cheek and lip fillers and rhinoplasty – at Vanity Fair's Young Hollywood do in LA on February 23. And Miami plastic surgeon Dr Michael Salzhauer thinks the former Glee star has gone too far. "Overfilled cheeks and breasts are not a great look," he says. "The goal should be to achieve natural-looking results without looking overdone."

MADONNA

"This is what a 56-year-old ass looks like!" Madonna defiantly said when she got her buns out last year. But can she deny trying to turn back the clock when it comes to her face?

"I believe she may have temporary fillers," says UK injectables expert Julie Brackenbury, while consultant plastic surgeon Caroline Mills suspects Madge gets Botox, too.

And not everyone's a fan, with Modern Family's Sofia Vergara, 43, calling out the Material Girl's taut appearance.

"That thing with the cheeks. Like Madonna... It doesn't make them look young," she says. Ouch!

Madge's appearance in China on February 20 sparked surgery talk

WTFace!

Um, who are these people – and what have they done with our favourite stars?

JONATHAN CHEBAN

Kim Kardashian's BFF's taut skin is so smooth he barely appears to have aged a day. But those wonky, overfilled cheeks might have given Jonathan's game away.

"It's quite likely that Jonathan has undergone facial surgery," says surgeon Caroline Mills, who believes the 42-year-old's also had a nose job and his ears pinned back.

"His skin looks tight and shiny in places... He may have undergone a mini face lift."

Jonathan's happy to 'fess up to a nip and tuck, though, admitting, "I had my fat frozen – my love handles."

BRITNEY SPEARS

Britney surprised fans when she posted a snap of herself with Hillary Clinton on February 18, but it wasn't her political connections that had people talking – it was Brit's new look!

"She's had fillers placed in her cheeks to provide a lift," says New York surgeon Dr Norman Rowe. "Her forehead looks like Botox has been at work."

And 34-year-old singer has admitted to tinkering with her looks in the past, revealing in 2013, "I've had lip injections before."

NOW

CHRISTINA AGUILERA

We did a double take when the 35-year-old appeared in a Jimmy Fallon skit on February 15 – and UK plastic surgeon Dr Kishan Raichura says Xtina sure looks surgically enhanced. "Christina's definitely a fan of lip filler," says the doc, who also suspects she "may have had a chin implant to elongate her face".

Kenny and Leon get cosy

Is Kendall

A DRUG

The good-girl model is falling in with a bad crowd

It's no secret she loves a bit of a bad boy – yes, we're looking at you, Harry Styles! But somebody perhaps needs to tell Kendall Jenner that her latest crush, Leon "Starino" Anderson, is most definitely not boyfriend material – given the PR man is reportedly also Tinseltown's go-to drug dealer. Yikes!

The pair looked super cosy as they hit up London last week, enjoying a movie date on February 21.

And the next evening, they joined pals Drake and Rihanna at Mayfair's Sexy Fish restaurant, before the foursome partied at the Libertine Club.

The inseparable pair even stopped by Burger King in central London for a pre-bed snack at 1am.

Needless to say, given 29-year-old Leon's far-from-squeaky-clean rep, Kenny's inner circle are worried.

After all, Leon – who's been a fixture on the Hollywood and London party scenes for years – proudly told an undercover reporter from UK paper The Sun in 2013 that scoring drugs, women or whatever tickles a particular celeb's fancy is "part of my service. I have to be able to [get drugs]."

DATING G DEALER?

Claiming to be the “right-hand man” to “the biggest clients in the world”, Leon’s built an impressive portfolio of A-List pals – or should that be clients?

Going by the name Mr Fix It, he lists RiRi, Scott Disick, Chris Brown, Zayn Malik, Cara Delevingne and Justin Bieber among his celebrity charges.

And discretion isn’t exactly one of his strong points either, given he’s more than happy to spill the beans on his famous clientele – including Biebs!

“He likes to party and he likes his girls,” Leon told to The Sun. “In the end it got too much. He wanted me to go everywhere with him and carry Class A [drugs] for him and I thought, ‘I ain’t going to jail for no-one.’”

What’s more, Leon also hinted that he operates as a pimp for his A-list mates.

“I have got the best girls in the world working for me,” he told The Sun reporters. “So if you want to fk some of the best girls... I can arrange it.”

While Kenny, 20, and Leon may be ‘old friends’, sources are understandably concerned that the young model is risking her lucrative catwalk career by falling for the alleged dealer.

“High-end fashion houses like the ones Kendall’s signed to hate getting caught up in scandal,” an insider tells NW.

“If they catch the remotest whiff of any sort of funny business, they could drop her.”

Be careful, Kenny! ■

MAN ABOUT LONDON TOWN

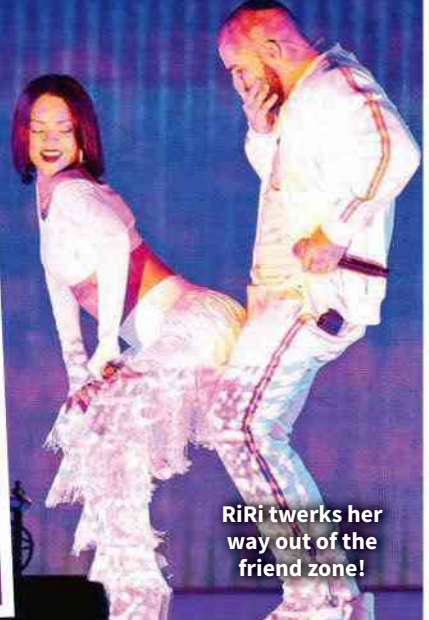

“When they’re in London and want to go out, I arrange everything from restaurants and clubs to anything else they want,” the self-proclaimed “fixer” Leon – who regularly rubs shoulders with the likes of Hailey Baldwin, Scott Disick and Biebs – told The Sun.

RiRi’s Ri-bound guy!

After grinding all over him during their performance at the Brit Awards last week, rumours are rife that Rihanna and her ex Drake are back on! Indeed RiRi has serious form when it comes to running back to her go-to Mr Nice Guy ex when things get bad. Drake was there with open arms when she split from on-off beau Chris Brown two years ago. Now, having just been given the flick by ladies’ man Leonardo DiCaprio and with her career in a slump, it’s no wonder Ri’s after a bit of TLC!

Gwen vs Miranda

The US press is going wild with reports Gwen Stefani and Blake Shelton’s relationship is dangling by a thread following a huge blow-up with his ex-wife Miranda Lambert! After catching wind that 46-year-old Gwen had been calling her a “redneck harlot” behind her back, Miranda reportedly began blowing up the singer’s phone, threatening to “kick your ass” and branding her a ‘90s has-been! Adding to Miranda’s rage, sources tell In Touch that the 32-year-old saw red after hearing Gwen’s new song Make Me Like You, in which she gushes about how Blake, 39, wooed her just weeks after he dumped his country singer missus. What’s more, a pal of Gwen’s tells the mag that her album’s title This Is What the Truth Feels Like “is a direct hit at Miranda. It’s her way of saying, ‘The truth hurts – deal with it.’” Ouch!

Lorde and Justin have been linked romantically since November

The Kiwi singer steps out with a much older squeeze!

Splashing around on New Zealand's Piha Beach, Lorde and her bikini weren't the only red-hot attractions – check out the chemistry between the singer and her rumoured new love Justin Warren!

Yup, word is the star's fallen for the high-flying and seemingly much older music exec – and they looked mighty cosy playing around in the waves just outside of Auckland.

"They didn't stop smiling and seemed very into each other," says one beachgoer. "She was definitely flirting."

The playful pair are having a right royal time in the surf

Ending their beach date with a short stroll

OUR AN?

This isn't the first time the pair have sparked dating talk.

In November, Justin – a promotions director at Lorde's record company Universal Music – accompanied her on the red carpet at the New Zealand Music Awards.

They were also spotted at the Laneway music festival in Auckland's Silo Park on February 1, before being spied again on February 8 enjoying breakfast at a cafe near Lorde's $2.8 million home in Auckland's Herne Bay.

And while Justin has denied a romance, telling The New Zealand Herald, "[We] have worked together for years and we're good friends," they look like more than pals to us!

What's more, their latest flirt-fest comes less than a month after it was reported that Lorde – real name Ella Yelich-O'Connor – had split from her long-time love James Lowe, 26, late last year.

Indeed, while the 19-year-old previously gushed about him on social media, writing of their anniversary last April, "Two years, and sandstorms, and the stars haven't left my eyes," she hasn't mentioned James in months.

And she doesn't appear to be pining for him, either, tweeting in January, "Feeling quietly excited about 2016."

Hmm, we wonder if that has anything to do with a certain silver fox in boardies? ■

Nick's Kate look-alike date!

Nick Jonas certainly wasn't kidding when he recently tweeted, "I am not in a relationship with anyone right now."

Just days after stepping out with on-off lover Kate Hudson, 36, the 23-year-old has been spotted wining and dining a much younger Kate look-alike. Ouch!

Yep, lady-loving Nick was spotted arriving at actor Sidney Poitier's birthday dinner at Craig's in West Hollywood on February 20 with a pretty blonde – and they looked every inch an item.

"They were smiling and laughing and being flirty," says an onlooker.

It was only five seconds ago that Nick was dating the real Kate, while also being linked to hotties Lily Collins, 26, and Gigi Hadid, 20.

But his ladies should be wary – the star has hinted at doing a Taylor Swift with a kiss-and-tell about his personal life!

"Ready to share the journey I've been on this last year through my music... Which is coming very soon," he tweeted last week.

Ellie's courting her coach

Is Ellie Goulding doing more than just burpees with her hot new trainer? Just weeks after parting ways with singer Dougie Poynter, 28, the Brit babe looks to be wasting no time moving on – with fitness guru Joe Wicks!

Indeed, the 29-year-old and her trainer Joe – aka The Body Coach – were spotted partying at Drama nightclub in London on February 20.

Dressed to impress in a flirty minidress, Ellie couldn't wipe the smile off her face as she waited in line with her rumoured new man. And she may not be the only one who's head-over-heels! The buff babe has been gushing about Ellie to anyone who'll listen.

"She's a really good role model. She's super-fit and can outrun me on a treadmill," says Joe, 29. "It's nice she's not afraid to show that she trains hard and does boxing. She's inspiring for young girls."

Sounds like somebody's got a crush – and it just might be reciprocated!

MOVE OVER KIMMY!

It's Rob & Blac: The Reality Show

The PDA-ing pair are gearing up for their own TV series!

When you know, you know, right? That would explain why

Rob Kardashian has already laid plans to shack up with his controversial new squeeze Blac Chyna after dating for only a few weeks!

With the help of his mum Kris Jenner, Rob's splashed a whopping $3.2 million on an LA love nest in the same gated Calabasas community as his sisters Khloe and Kourtney Kardashian, and Kylie Jenner!

Yep, the reclusive star may have been MIA for three years, but he's a new man since hooking up with former exotic dancer Blac in January.

And with new-found confidence oozing out of Rob's every pore, we hear he and his girlfriend have made another major decision – to star in their own reality show!

"Rob wants the world to know he's dating Blac," an insider tells NW. "Doing a reality show is a natural step, despite his years of shunning the family show. This is going to give him the chance to shine away from his family."

Our source says the 28-year-old – who withdrew from the spotlight after gaining 45kg – wants viewers to see the real Rob and Blac, as well as the results of his ongoing weight loss.

Needless to say, mumager Kris is delighted with the idea of a lucrative spin-off to Keeping Up With The Kardashians.

"He still wants to come back and, you know, shoot the show," Kris, 60, told Entertainment Tonight back in January of Rob's planned return.

And she got the ball rolling by inviting the pair to her Hidden Hills home on January 28 to nut out details of their cut, before pitching the new show to KUWTK executive producer Ryan Seacrest as a cross between her family's reality series and Newlyweds, with a splash of The Biggest Loser.

And we hear Blac and Rob will do whatever it takes to make the show a hit – even if it means getting hitched on TV!

Hardly surprising, given they could rake in as much as $28 million for one season if the show proves successful.

And Blac's ongoing feud with Rob's sister Kylie – who's dating Blac's ex Tyga, 26 – is likely to be ratings gold!

With his struggling sock line Arthur George being his only source of income, Rob could certainly do with the coin – especially given reports he's blown half his $7 million fortune in the last 12 months alone.

Of course, he's going to have a hard time getting the rest of the klan on board.

Our insider notes that Kylie, 18, is still furious at Rob's betrayal – and sisters Kourtney, 36, and Kendall, 20, and her dad Caitlyn Jenner, 66, are all very much Team Ky.

Well, Rob, it seems blood isn't always thicker than water... ■

Wonder if they can see Kylie's digs from here?

Well if this doesn't have trouble written all over it, we don't know what does! Rob and Blac are moving in together – smack bang in the middle of the Calabasas gated community his sisters Kylie, Khloe and Kourt call home!

"They feel this is a fresh house and a fresh start for them," a source tells E! News.

Needless to say, Kylie's raging and we're sure Kim and Kourtney won't be too thrilled about having the family's arch-enemy Blac joining the local neighbourhood mums' club.

And stirring the pot even more, sources say Rob's doting mum Kris Jenner helped fork out the money for the luxe $2.3 million, four-bedroom pad with money from the family trust.

Ker-ching!

We won't be holding our breath for the Kardashian-Jenner girls to pop over for a cup of sugar any time soon!

CAMERAS ARE ROLLING

Rob recently filmed Blac as she helped him clean out his pantry of junk food, posting the hilare vids on Insty! Perhaps it's a taste of what's to come on their reality show...

Blac was disgusted by what she found in Rob's pantry...

...and even he was shocked by his snack stash!

COOKING UP TROUBLE

Their long-running feud heated up again last week, with Blac taking aim at Ky's new Cooking With Kylie web series. Already doing her own Insta-cooking series, Blac wasn't buying the imitation-as-flattery line, posting, "Bitch Bye. Follow @cookingwithchyna #InfatuatedWitChy." But Tyga wasn't having it. "Motherfkers gotta stop acting like they invented every motherfking thing out here," he posted on Snapchat.

CATWALK TO CRUTCHES

Bit of a fall, luv?

A ski stack knocks Mossy for six – and she's piste off!

She might have conquered the catwalks with her signature strut way back in the '90s, but it seems Kate Moss still needs to polish her moves on the slopes!

Yep, after jetting off to the posh Swiss ski resort of Verbier for a romantic vacay with her toyboy lover Count Nikolai von Bismarck last week, the snowy sojourn turned sour when the mother-of-one took a tumble on the mountain. Ouch!

Clearly in pain following her fall, the 42-year-old model was whizzed to a nearby hospital where she was strapped up before heading back to London.

"Her foot was in a brace, she was on crutches and she looked very pissed off. But then who can blame her – she had to cut her holiday short!" says an onlooker.

Don't worry, Mossy – if anyone can make crutches chic, it's you!

But you can't keep a good woman down. Just days later, the model and Nikolai, 28, were seen house hunting in the British capital before hitting up a party thrown by her long-time pal Matthew Freud, where onlookers say she left looking a little worse for wear. That's the spirit! ■

Was Matt just using Lea for fame?

1 WHAT WENT WRONG WITH LEA AND MATT?

Say it ain't so! Just weeks after gushing, "We've stood by each other through anything that was thrown our way," Lea Michele has been unceremoniously dumped by her boyfriend of almost two years Matthew Paetz. And it seems it wasn't a mutual decision, with reports Matt ghosted on the former Glee star. How rude!

"They were talking marriage in December, and then, all of a sudden, he moved out. She was blindsided," an insider dishes to US OK! magazine.

Now her friends fear Matt, 30 – who worked as a male escort before meeting Lea, 29, on the set of her On My Way music video in April 2014 – may have just been using her for her fame.

"He ended up being an opportunist who took advantage and broke up with her in a very heartless way," a second source reveals. "Her friends were always concerned with the relationship because of his past. All of those fears were validated."

WHICH FRIENDS WERE FRIENDS WITH BENEFITS?

Reuniting for the first time in 12 years for NBC's Must See TV: An All-Star Tribute To James Burrows, which aired in the US on February 21, our fave Friends Jennifer Aniston, 47, Courteney Cox, 51, Lisa Kudrow, 52, David Schwimmer, 49, and Matt LeBlanc, 48, finally admitted to hooking up IRL. We so knew it!

When asked by the show's host Andy Cohen if they had to sign a contract stipulating they wouldn't shag each other, David revealed, "Well, that was broken."

So who was bonking who? Well, last July, Matt's estranged father Paul shockingly claimed his son had an affair with 3 WHAT'S BRIT'S SECRET ADDICTION?

Nope, we're not talking about Starbucks and durries! According to our insider, Britney Spears, 34, has developed a huge porn addiction, and she watches it every day – even when she's in a relationship. Way to do you, Brit!

"She's incredibly highly sexed and gets really frustrated when she's not having regular hook-ups," our exclusive source says of the single singer's itch-scratching secret. "So lately she's been getting her kicks through porn more and more."

Whatever floats a girl's boat!

Lisa, David, Court, Matt and Jen's reunion aired on February 21

Jen while she was married to Brad Pitt, 52.

And after seeing them getting cosy in LA recently, our money's on Matthew Perry – who was MIA for the reunion due to theatre commitments in London – and Courteney having done the deed during the show's run. But is that it? Let the guessing games begin!

We really hope there was a Ross and Rachel affair IRL!

4 IS JEREMY THE BIGGEST CREEP EVER?

When it comes to his ex Kate Nardi, Jeremy Piven needs to make like Elsa and let it go!

Kate's new boyfriend Justin Ross Lee has accused the Entourage actor of bombarding her with a string of "creepy" text messages!

"The guy will not stop texting her," Justin revealed on Facebook. "He keeps offering to fly her places, like, 'Do you want to come to London?' and he keeps asking her to dinner."

And while another source tells the New York Post that Jeremy, 50, asked Kate to send him a sexy picture and said they need to "get on each other... as soon as possible", a pal of the Piv claims the two haven't had any contact since splitting more than two years ago.

5 COULD KYLIE BE PREGGERS?

First comes love, then comes marriage, then comes Kylie Minogue with a baby carriage? Let's hope so, following news the 47-year-old Aussie singer is engaged to actor Joshua Sasse.

Congrats, you guys!

Revealing the happy news via a formal announcement in the UK's Daily Telegraph – so tradish! – the lovebirds of six months also took to social media to thank fans for their well wishes.

Of course, the fast-tracked engagement has everyone guessing whether Kylie might have more to celebrate – like the pitter-patter of tiny feet!

The pop princess couldn't stop touching her tum at the Brit Awards and has made no secret of the fact she wants children with Josh, 28, who's already dad to two-year-old Sebastian from a previous relationship.

"Who knows if family is one of my horizons," she said in December. "But if that were to happen that would be incredible."

Fingers crossed, Ky!

Indeed, having revealed that she's open to dating women – confessing in 2014, “I fall in love with human beings based on who they are, not based on what they do or what sex they are” – Shailene sent the gay rumour mill into overdrive after getting handsy with the Shameless star during a shopping trip in New Orleans on February 14.

7 WHY IS SEL LIVING ON PICKLES?

She's got curves most women would kill for, but sexy Selena Gomez has embarked on a crazy crash diet to shed the kilos!

According to US OK! mag, the 23-year-old's bizarre weight-loss plan involves drinking lots of water and eating tons of “garlic-stuffed olives and pickles”.

She'd best stock up on some gum then!

What's more, to ensure she gets her nutrients, the insider says Sel takes “vitamins and supplements like ginger and mint, but the diet's made her feel awful”. Now pals are concerned that Sel – who also suffers from the autoimmune disease lupus – is putting her health in danger.

And it's not the first time she's reportedly used pickles to slim down fast.

Last November, a source told US mag Life & Style the singer lost 14kg in just 10 days by losing on them!

Indeed, it seems she's kinda obsessed.

“I go to the movies and have popcorn and pickles,” says Sel. “I may bring out a pickle cookbook.”

Yep, appearing on The Late Late Show With James Corden, the 40-year-old Aussie singer admitted she uses her trademark oversized wigs to “maintain a modicum of privacy” after her first taste of the spotlight saw her turn to drink and drugs.

“I was a singer already for, like, 10 or 11 years to mediocre success,” she explains. “I was an alcoholic and drug addict and I sobered up and decided I didn't want to be an artist anymore because I was starting to get a little bit famous – it was destabilising.”

Kylie's had a child star experience similar to Amanda's

YIKES!

IS KYLIE the next BYNESY?

Fans fear the erratic reality teen's headed for a breakdown

Gosh, it seems like only yesterday that Kylie Jenner was a shy, lip filler-free tween, without a care in the world beyond cheerleading.

But fast-forward a few years and the KUTWK star has shed her good-girl image to become Hollywood's latest wild child.

With Ky's penchant for plastic surgery, erratic style switches, family feuds and boyfriend dramas, we hear those in her inner circle are seriously worried. There are even fears she's headed the same way as troubled starlet Amanda Bynes, 29 – who famously threw a bong out her apartment window, was arrested for marijuana possession and tweeted to Drake to “murder [her] vagina” in the midst of an epic breakdown that saw her committed to a psych ward.

Like Amanda, Kylie was thrust into the public eye, starting out in her family's reality show when she was just 10. And like the actress, who also found fame at 10, it's clear Ky is struggling with the spotlight.

“Growing up, I've heard the worst things anyone could ever say about me,” says Ky. “Bullying was just a big part of my life, with the world judging me and stuff.”

Clearly bordering on burnout, the vulnerable teen declared in a new interview that she's so fed up with cyber bullies that she's keen to quit social media altogether.

“Actually I kind of just don't want to do it any more,” she tells Wonderland magazine. “I want to be a businesswoman and be behind the scenes. Kylie Jenner needs to retire.”

And it's a move that couldn't come too soon, says Daniel Bober, founder of Psychiatric Consultants Of Florida and an assistant clinical professor at Yale.

With access to millions of dollars, an army of yes-men ready to cater to her every whim and no real parental controls in place – Kylie, 18, moved out of her mum Kris Jenner's LA pad and into her

Panic stations

“I wake up every morning with the worst anxiety. I don't know why,” says Kylie.

The same tragic path?

The similarities to Amanda are startling...

1 CHILD GONE WILD

At her worst, Amanda ran away from home, sought emancipation from her parents and falsely accused her father of sexual abuse. Ky's also had her share of family problems, admitting that she hated life during her dad Bruce's transition to Caitlyn and moving out of her mum's house as soon as she turned 18.

SHADY LADIES

Perhaps in a desperate quest to escape herself, Ky's covered the entire spectrum of hair colours, admitting, “It makes me feel like a new person. I love feeling different.” And that's something Amanda also did during her breakdown.

QUEST FOR PERFECTION

At her lowest point, Amanda – who's had two nose jobs and a boob job – tweeted, “I need to have surgery to look beautiful for the man I'm in love with.” And worryingly, Ky's ever-changing face has undergone an extreme transformation since she first started dating rapper Tyga.

The pressures of fame at a young age nearly destroyed Amanda

Amanda returned to Twitter last week, sharing this pic of her new 'do

BACK ON TRACK

Since re-enrolling at LA's Fashion Institute Of Design And Merchandising, Amanda's turned a corner. "She keeps to herself... but seems really healthy and focused on her schooling", says a source. "She seems like she's in a much better place and she looks great." In fact, we're told that with her studies going so well, Amanda's ready to find Mr Right! "She's been hesitant about dating, because she's had such heartbreak," says our insider. "But she finally feels secure in herself. Getting back on the dating scene without any drama would be the signal that her road to recovery is nearly complete."

own last year – Daniel reckons all the elements are in place for a tragic meltdown.

"She's a [teenager] with a lot of money, making very impulsive decisions and seeking instant gratification at every turn," says Daniel.

"All you have to do is add some drugs and alcohol and you have a potential disaster on the horizon... But if someone doesn't intervene soon, Kylie might find herself auditioning for Celebrity Rehab." ■

4 UP IN SMOKE

She's on the wagon now, but Amanda's chronic weed habit is thought to have been a factor in her breakdown, which resulted in a reported diagnosis of bipolar disorder and schizophrenia. Insiders fear Kylie has a pot habit, too, after she was overheard saying she was "high as fk" in a Snapchat video last May. Later, when asked in a fan Q&A how much weed she smoked daily, she refused to answer, not even to deny it. Where there's smoke...

5 SOCIAL MEDIA ADDICT

Like Amanda before her, Kylie can't stop posting sexy Instagram selfies, something holistic health expert Gabrielle Pelicci says could be a problem. "If [Kylie's] displaying aggressive or oversexualised behavior, drawing lots of attention to [herself] is a cry for help and a cry for respect, support and love," she says

NEW FEARS FOR LILY-ROSE

Lily didn't look well while out with Ash on February 18

Deathly pale, twig-thin and coughing uncontrollably, Lily-Rose Depp's appearance during a walk in West Hollywood with her boyfriend, model Ash Stymest, has sparked fears her hard-partying lifestyle, late nights out and chain smoking is taking a nasty toll on her health.

And we hear the 16-year-old's dad Johnny is blaming himself!

"He said yes to everything she wanted and now it's coming back to bite him, because she's not used to him telling her what to do or setting any boundaries," an insider tells NW. "He feels doubly guilty as it's since she started spending time at his place in Hollywood that she's made friends with this bad crowd."

Now Johnny's hoping his wife Amber Heard – who's had a few wild years herself – can help get Lily back on track.

"Johnny's begged Amber to do whatever it takes. She's doing her best and they have a deep bond, but the odds aren't in her favour," adds the insider. "Lily is a headstrong young woman and she's convinced her lifestyle and new friends are totally fine."

Father knows best, Lily!

Lily appeared thin, pale and had a nasty cough...

SOLVED!

The weird, wacky and wonderful ways these celebs get picture perfect

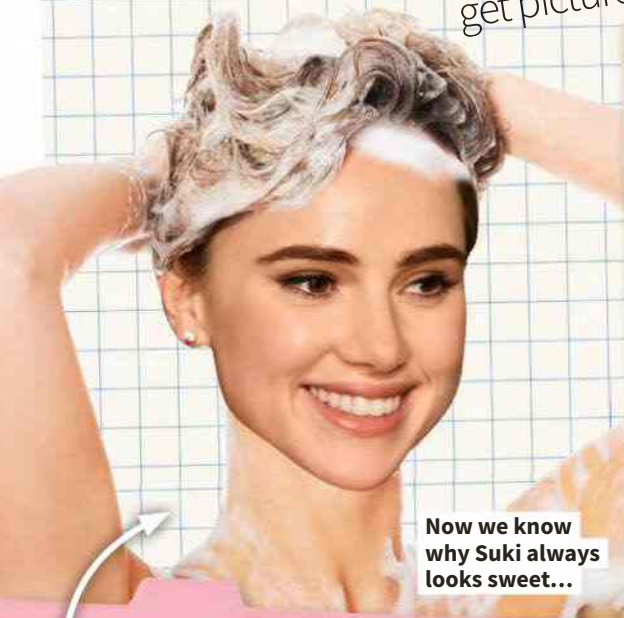

Sticky business

When Kim Kardashian wants to rein in her boisterous girls for the red carpet, there's one method that's, er, close to her heart – masking tape!

"You tape them up so they're super lifted," Kim, 35, overshares, alongside the above snap. "It takes a little work, but trust me, it's all worth it... Just brace yourself for when it's time to take it off, LOL."

The easiest boob job ever!

Now we know why Suki always looks sweet...

Fizz not frizz!

Getting runway-ready hair sure is thirsty work! But forget shampoo – Suki Waterhouse likes to lather up with a soft drink to achieve her perfect waves.

"I rinse my hair with Coca-Cola sometimes," says the 24-year-old model. "I don't like my hair when it's washed – it's fine and limp – but Coca-Cola makes it tousled, like I've gone through the Amazon or something." And this way it's also calorie-free!

Lisa does her make-up and her baking at the same time!

A real spice girl

Lisa Rinna's lips speak for themselves, but the Real Housewife relies on more than silicone to keep her enhanced pout at its perky best. Yep, she hits up her pantry!

"A fun little trick if you want to plump up your lips, so to speak, is a little cinnamon. Just put a little on your lips," Lisa, 52, says of the spice, which temporarily inflames the skin. Yikes!

Take a brow, Gaga

It sounds like the chemicals may have gone to her brain, but Lady Gaga swears by bleaching her brows – every day!

"I like to keep them light. They're more versatile for a beauty look," the 29-year-old reveals. "You can draw [your eyebrows] any way you want when they're bleached." Well, bleach to their own!

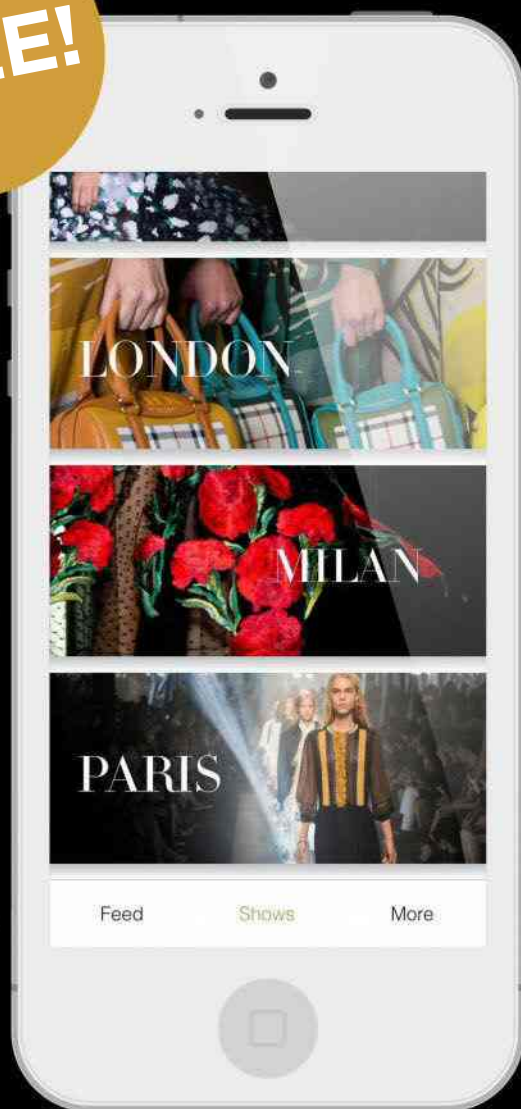

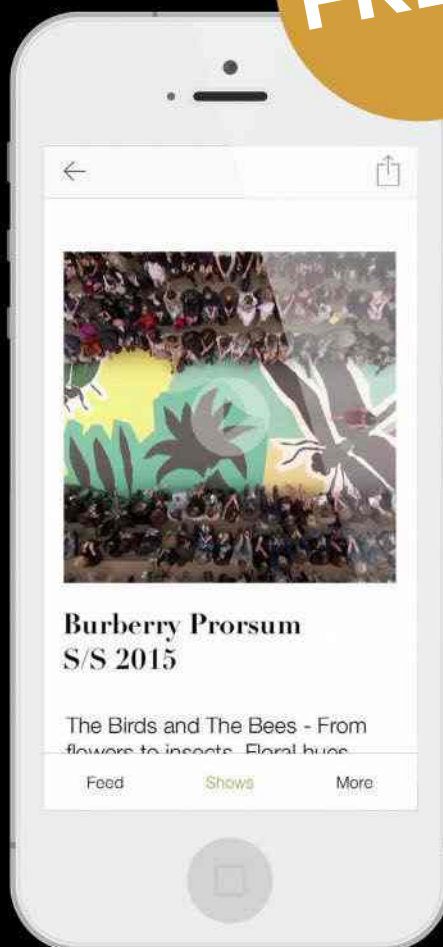

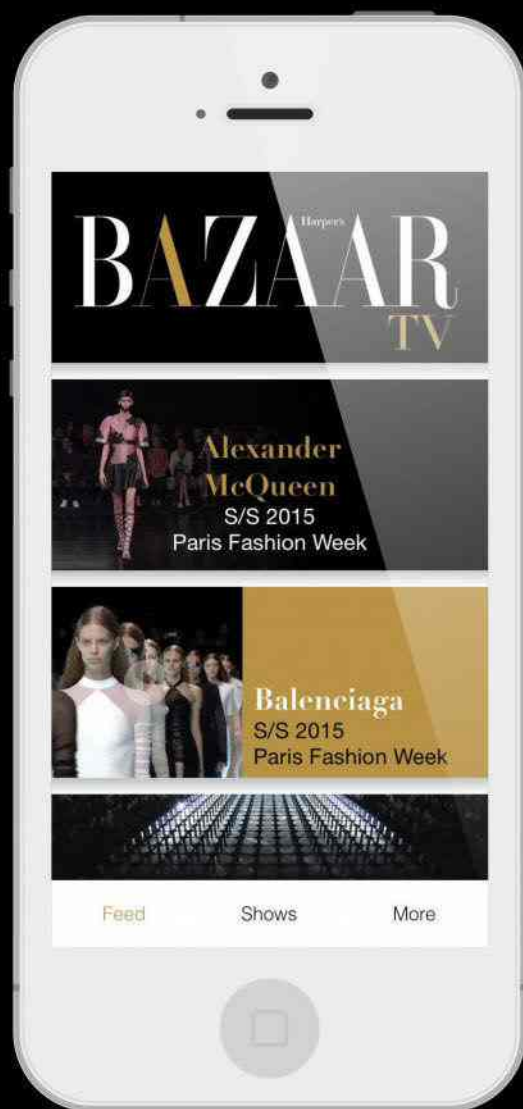

Gaga's brows are all white on the night!

Go with the frow

As dedicated followers of Fashion Week descend on London, the celebs are out in force at the Topshop Unique show at the Tate Britain gallery. From Immy and Suki Waterhouse to Olivia Palermo, Jourdan Dunn, Karlie Kloss, Lottie Moss (yep, Kate's sister), US male model Lucky Blue Smith and Brandon Green – son of Topshop founder Sir Phillip – that's one fashion-forward frow! And it's an equally good-looking scene at the Christopher Kane show, with Olivia flanked by Alexa Chung, Daisy Lowe, Caroline Sieber, Harley Viera-Newton and Atlanta De Cadenet. Meanwhile, Georgia May Jagger struts up a storm for Fashion East and Charli XCX ensures all eyes are on her at Vivienne Westwood by flashing her boobs. Well, kind of...

Charli's keeping abreast of the latest trends

Jourdan and Karlie sure got tongues wagging!

'Neither of us can hold our licker'

'I bags first go!'

Boys and their toys

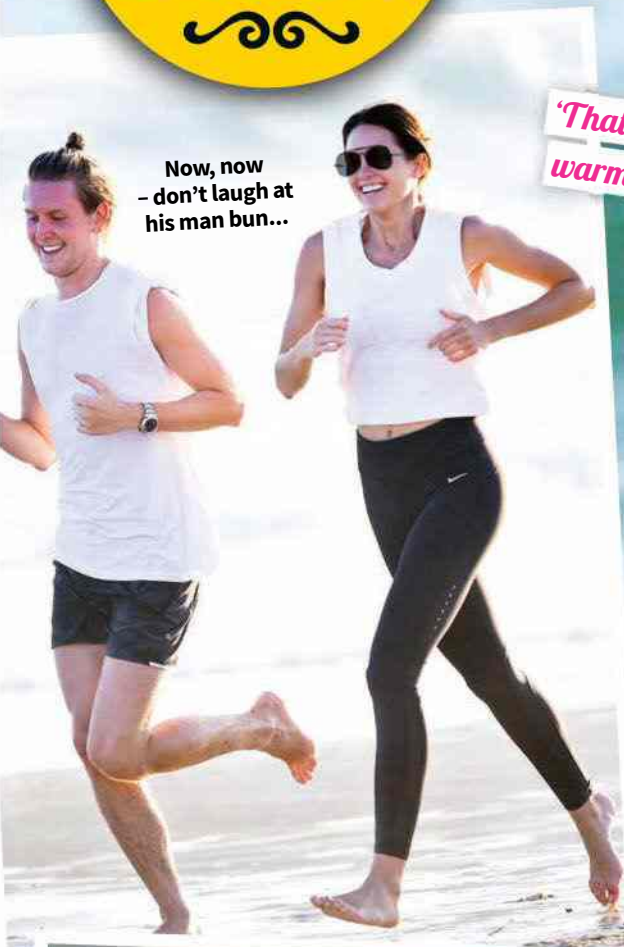

We always suspected toy shopping was more fun for dads than the kids they're buying for. And now Chris Pratt has given the game away for fathers everywhere with this disgraceful lack of poker face. Instead of tut-tutting about how much trucks cost these days, he looks like a six-year-old on Christmas morning. How can little Jack expect to compete with that level of excitement?

You should see him in the Lego section

Jesinta's training day

Who the hell looks this good while they're exercising? Jesinta Campbell spends the day at Bondi, running and swimming in a circuit that would have most people beetroot-red in the face and sweating gravy. But not our Jesinta, who emerges from the ocean depths looking ready to appear on another magazine cover, after gracing both Cosmopolitan and the final issue of CLEO in the last couple of months. Good Health, perhaps?

'Want a go on my invisible bodyboard?'

Out for a stroll in West Hollywood, Bella Hadid stops for a refreshing iced beverage at Alfred Coffee with her mates before heading to a bookshop. By the looks of that outfit, though, she must be planning to do some pretty strenuous reading. Hey, maybe it's running writing. Geddit?

'I've Hadid up to here with these workout puns!'

Daddy's little girl

There's only one person Harper wants to hold hands with as the Beckhams arrive at LAX for a flight – and that's her daddy David Beckham. She's even dressed like him, twinning her white dress with his tee and working her Ray-Ban aviators like a pro. On the other side of the family, Victoria wrangles 13-year-old Romeo, who's clearly hit that broody teenager phase.

The pout face is hereditary?

Apollo's park mission

She's headed to the park to watch son Zuma play flag football, but who cares about that when Gwen Stefani's got an adorable new puppy! And it looks like little Apollo is learning some responsibility in the lead-up to his second birthday, taking control of the leash and leading his canine pal through the park. Or vice versa...

Gwen may need a bigger coffee...

'She keeps me on a short leash'

Darren's pleasure island

We were starting to wonder where Darren McMullen had got to! He's kicking back with his girlfriend, Teen Wolf star Crystal Reed, in Hawaii. And while the former Voice host looks like he's loving island life, Crystal seems a little wary of something – is she worried Dazza's beard is the beginning of his transformation into a werewolf? Nah, probably not...

It must be lava...

Hot or NOT

The sweet and the sour of style

HOT

Olivia
Wilde

Liv's Dolce & Gabbana dress is super busy, but she makes it work by keeping everything else simple. The high, sheer neck is super sweet, and we love that she's gone tonal with her lips and nails.

NOT

Kate Hudson

Y'all better jump on your tractor, Kate – someone left the gate to the pig pen open and they're eatin' all your prize pumpkins! Country chic is one thing, but in her denim overalls and what looks like a potato sack, she gone full hillbilly...

HOT

Barbara Palvin

She might have forgotten her shirt, but, frankly, Barbara's risqué look is on fleek! She's balanced the masculine suit with a loose ponytail and smoky eyes – and the bra is so pretty it would be a shame to cover it up. Do not try this at home! Or, er, work...

HOT

Emily Ratajowski

Emily would look good in a garbage bag, so perhaps that's why there's some attached to this sheer, lacy Marc Jacobs number. It's bizarre and only a megababe like Em can pull this off with that body and dreamy make-up. #girlcrush

HOT

Petitfleur Berenger

We don't know how she does it, but the Real Housewife's gone for an unlikely combination of tulle, beads, diamonds, fur and granny panties... and totally nailed it! Sexy, elegant and just a little bit Beyonce...

NOT

Danielle Armstrong

There's a right way to do a sheer frock and granny panties (see above) and there's a wrong way. Dani's dress is a little too sheer to be elegant and probably best left in the boudoir with the furry handcuffs...

HOT

Ciara

Hey, Ciara, the '70s called - they want to know how you're doing their style better than they did. The brown suede skirt, floaty top and centre part make for a chic throwback, while the heeled Roman sandals bring the look into 2016.

Hot or NOT

HOT

Lily Aldridge

Twin braids are so hot right now! The Victoria's Secret model looks seriously angelic in this daring criss-cross crop and matching button-down skirt by Thakoon, all paired with the perfect matte lip. Killing. It!

HOT

Chanel Iman

We're not a tiny bit surprised stunning Chanel looks amazeballs in this notoriously difficult colour. Loose and wavy locks add to the summery vibe of the gorgeous cut-out gown. Well played!

HOT

Blake Lively

When the actress mixes high end with high street, the world takes note. So much so, this motorbike-print blouse from retail store Equipment sold out online fast. Clearly we all want a piece of Blake!

NOT

Millie Mackintosh

The former Made In Chelsea star may be single, but she doesn't look ready to mingle in this Amanda Wakeley gown! Sure, she has a bangin' bod - but it doesn't mean she should dress as a Christmas cracker...

NOT

Lady Gaga

This tracksuit is almost too much to bear! Gaga's awards season glam-over didn't last long, with the star choosing comfort over couture in this Nicopanda set. You've bamboozled us yet again, Gaga.

Sunset EYES

What dreams are made of

It's time to turn traditional eyeshadow on its head and brave some stunning new hues. We're not talking crazy colours here – just put down the greys and blacks and let this golden-orange shade shine from your lids. The key is radiance, so opt for shimmering textures in tones reminiscent of a sunset. Sweep the one colour from your lash line to eye socket, and apply some under your lower lash line as well. Avoid anything too matte – it's your time to sparkle!

RED-HOT ON THE red carpet

As they strut their stuff at the Oscars, our fave leading ladies tell us how they shape up!

Unforgiving lights, fitted frocks and millions of enthralled fans looking on – there's a whole heap of pressure on Hollywood's hottest to look flawless during awards season. But it's not all hair, make-up and stylists keeping them gorgeous – making health a priority gets these stunners through the stress of having to look their best! Here's how they do it...

Brie Larson, 26

Exercise

She was nominated for the Best Actress Oscar thanks to her work in Room, but to shape up for her role as a kidnapped mum, slender Brie had to turn seven kilos of fat into muscle!

"I was able to lift things that I never felt in my life I would be able to do," she says of her strength-training sessions. "Being able to dead-lift before I went to work every morning gave me this mental change that I never had before."

Confidence, strength and a flawless physique? Pass the 20kg weights!

Diet

Brie admits she's dabbled in fad diets, including going sugar-free, but now she fuels her training with a hearty eating plan, recently posting some mouth-watering food porn of

"a banana pancake with macadamia nut sauce".

For a low-carb version, whisk a mashed banana with two eggs, cook until brown and top with nuts!

Brie was a golden goddess at the Globes thanks to her weight-training

'This? No problem,' Brie joked on Instagram

Alicia Vikander, 27

Exercise

The beauty's long, graceful figure is testament to the nine years she spent at the Royal Swedish Ballet School.

While injuries forced her to untie the pointe shoes for good, The Danish Girl star still loves "a boogie", which helps her retain that dancer's shape – and mentality!

"I do work very hard," explains Alicia, who was nominated for the Best Supporting Actress Oscar. "I have been very coloured by that [dancing] education. I spent six days a week, seven hours a day training. That will always be the foundation of my work."

Diet

To maintain a slim figure all year round, Alicia sticks to home-cooking yummy dishes like chilli, helping her to avoid the extra fat and kilojoules found in restaurants meals.

She also eats clean, sticking to fresh, organic produce, which is why the Swedish stunner went nuts when she discovered US organic supermarket chain Whole Foods!

"I got lost," she says. "I was there for two and a half hours."

'[Ballet] taught me discipline and hard work,' says Alicia

Jen did hill sprints in Santa Monica to prep for her role as Katniss

Jennifer Lawrence, 25

Exercise

Those unforgiving Hunger Games catsuits are enough to get any girl to the gym!

"[I prescribe] bodyweight squats, push-ups and sit-ups, all performed in a circuit," says J-Law's trainer Joe Horrigan. "If you can do any of these exercises for 20 minutes at high intensity, you will see results."

And given the actress is something of a teacher's pet, it's no wonder she's got such a rockin' bod.

"[Jennifer] was never late. She never missed a workout. She never complained," says Joe. "She did everything that was asked of her and she usually did so with a smile."

Diet

With miles of red carpet to strut in skyscraper heels, Jen takes care to fuel her body the right way.

"You can't work when you're hungry, you know?" says the actress, who was up for the Best Actress Oscar – again! – for Joy.

That's why Joe gets her to fill up on small portions.

"The calories had to come down," he says. "Our nutritionist talked to [the cast] and we reduced the saturated fats. [Jen] had to have enough carbs to train. If you put her on too [few carbs], then she wouldn't have the energy and [it] would affect her ability to perform."

Short bursts and small portions got J-Law into this cut-out Dior number on the the Globes

Rachel McAdams, 37

Exercise

Rach's strength and conditioning coach Jerry Owen says she loves fat-blasting interval training.

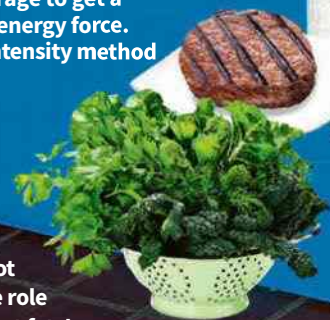

"She's very athletic, moves very fluidly," Jerry says of their daily sessions, adding that they don't train for hours on end.

"With a shorter, more intense exercise, your body is forced to tap into its fat storage to get a more sustainable energy force. This quick, high-intensity method burns more fat."

Diet

Up for the Best Supporting Actress Oscar for Spotlight, Rach got into shape for the role without cutting out fats!

"I have all my clients rid their cabinets of low-fat foods because they tend to overeat it," explains Jerry. "I believe everything in moderation. Eat and enjoy red meat, take in plenty of leafy greens and [cruciferous] vegies... just make sure a protein and fat is in every meal."

Lily James, 26

Exercise

Want the lean physique Lily wowed with at the Golden Globes? Ditch the car!

"Cycling is way faster," says the Brit beauty. "I love getting to see London as I ride by. It's such a beautiful city and it keeps me fit while I'm at it."

And to slim her limbs while filming Cinderella, she also did "loads of yoga".

"It was brilliant for strength and posture, and also mentally, it kept me sane!" she says.

Diet

Ever put on a dress that's so tight, you decide to skip the chips in favour of something lighter? Yep, Lily has too.

"If you ate food, it didn't really digest properly and I'd be burping all afternoon in [co-star Richard Madden]'s face, and it was just really sort of unpleasant," she says of wearing a corset on the set of Cinderella, which saw her turn to liquids to prevent bloating.

"I'd have soup so that I could still eat but it wouldn't get stuck."

Bar is a real ice queen

Remember that iceberg that put an end to Jack and Rose's love affair in Titanic? Well, it's believed to have come from the Ilulissat Icefjord in Greenland – which is as big as 66,000 football fields! You can view this World Heritage Site from the air or follow Bar Refaeli's lead and get amongst it at sea level. Take a midnight-sun cruise and watch as the icebergs change from white and blue to orange and red – for as little as $143! For more details, visit arctic-adventure.dk/ilulissat-excursions.

Nashville USA

Tennessee's country music mecca has evolved as much as Taylor Swift's music – and it's hitting all the right notes. Cheap eats are making way for fine dining and abandoned warehouses are home to trendy cafes where the likes of Nashville star Hayden Panettiere love to nosh. "Every restaurant is trying to out-hip the others," says former local Tay. Hit Music Row for a tour of RCA Studio B, where legends like Elvis Presley and Dolly Parton recorded.

Now that relations with the US are less frosty, celebs are salsa-ing on over to Cuba. After all, who needs to play tourist in the big smoke when you can sail into caves at La Cueva del Indio, cycle through villages or ride a horse through tobacco plantations?

Manchester UK

You think of Manchester and David Beckham comes to mind, but this booming northern city is kicking goals in more areas than just the Premier League! Yep, there will be 15,000 hotel rooms in Manchester this year, second only to London as far as UK offerings go. On top of a vibrant music scene and stacks of history, it's also had the fastest foodie growth in the country over the last decade, with hot spots like San Carlo restaurant on famous King Street West luring celebs such as David Beckham and Rihanna. And shopping? "Designer stores around the Northern Quarter are a match for anything in London," reckons the former soccer champ.

Lady Gaga may have packed the garlic, but you needn't bother – the home of Dracula is undergoing a renaissance. While there are still creepy castles, the focus has shifted from vampires to art. Lonely Planet calls the city of Cluj-Napoca one of Europe's best art hubs thanks to its galleries, bohemian cafes and hip indie bars. This area is also known for its desserts, especially the doughnut-like gogosi. Do we need another reason? Nope!

Japan

Japan is like nowhere else on Earth. Its 5.5 million vending machines sell anything you could want, and you can selfie with owls at Torinoiru Cafe in Asakusa or dine with robots in Kabukicho. Beyond the kawaii (cute culture) appeal, you could try a cherry blossom viewing party in Shinjuku Gyoen National Garden in March or visit temples and shrines. YOUR Stars

The week ahead with Adele Lang

Pisces FEB 20 – MAR 20

There are so many planets in your sign in the first week of March, it'd be understandable if you started to feel overwhelmed. Passion, drama and chaos are all on the cards. The only way to deal with it is to be discerning. After all, some things are worth more of your energy than others.

Aries MAR 21 – APRIL 20

Mars might be stressing you out, but work pressures and domestic dramas will only be temporary. It's important you remain calm – more so if people around you are losing it. So long as you value your job and relationships, you should find the strength to keep on keeping on.

Taurus APRIL 21 – MAY 21

Planetary patterns predict you're more willing to throw away the rulebook at work and at home in the coming days. Bulls are very conventional creatures, but you're feeling restless at present. This, in turn, means you're prepared to do many things very differently.

Gemini MAY 22 – JUNE 21

Not everyone will turn out to be as supportive as they've said they'd be. Current lunar activity suggests you shouldn't waste your time arguing with them about their sudden about-face. Focus on the folk who are still with you all the way. You don't want to create needless negativity.

Cancer JUNE 22 – JULY 23

This week, you may feel you're settling for second best. According to the planets, that's just not the case. Accepting what you think is a poor offer from an employer or financial institution could be the start of something promising – don't let pride obscure your decision-making.

Leo JULY 24 – AUG 23

Issues from the past look set to rear their ugly heads over the next seven days. Rather than ignore them, stare them straight in the face. Sure, it takes guts to acknowledge your faults and accept your fair share of the blame. But better that than continue to live with low-level angst all the time.

Virgo AUG 24 – SEPT 23

If you want to avoid permanent fallings-out, make sure whatever you say isn't lost in translation. Your chart suggests miscommunication could lead to misunderstandings that you won't be able to come back from. At work, in particular, make sure verbal exchanges are backed up in writing.

Libra SEPT 24 – OCT 23

Your money planet Pluto hopes you have cash set aside for future hidden expenses and unexpected bills. If you haven't, then start a savings plan now. You might have to forgo a few of life's little luxuries, but better to get the serious stuff sorted out first for peace of mind.

Scorpio OCT 24 – NOV 22

With overbearing Mars starting to make less of an impact on your chart this week, you'll be ready to face the world again. Great for Scorps with a backlog of social engagements to follow up. But what about those not as in demand? Join a club or gym. Do anything but sit at home and brood.

Sagittarius NOV 23 – DEC 21

Powerful lunar influences make you a true force of nature from the start of the week. While employers will be bowled over by your visionary ideas, and partners and pals will get caught up in your fervor and fizz afterwards, avoid going overboard. You've only got so much energy to give.

Capricorn DEC 22 – JAN 20

Educational pursuits may weigh on your mind – that's not such a bad thing. If you're keen to progress at work or lead a fuller life beyond your day job, then look at the courses available. Astro-trends indicate great outcomes for any Goat girl who decides to boost her brain power.

Aquarius JAN 21 – FEB 19

Imposing your will on other people isn't your usual MO. But this week planetary alignments could make you more authoritative than normal. Certain friends and family might resist your orders initially, but stick to your guns. When they realise you mean what you say, they'll fall in line.

SACHA AND ISLA

FILM

GET GRIM!

The husband and wife duo make dirty comedy together

Sacha Baron Cohen loves to shock – and it looks like his spy spoof Grimsby will be his most outrageous film yet! A clip shown to the audience of Jimmy Kimmel Live was so explicit that all we got to see was everyone's horrified laughter!

And it's no wonder Jimmy branded the scene "one of the craziest things I've ever seen in my life", given that it reportedly shows Sacha climbing into an elephant's vagina! Yuck!

The movie sees the comedian play football hooligan Nobby, who reunites with his long-lost brother, FBI agent Sebastian (Mark Strong), to stop a global terror attack. Sacha's real-life wife, Aussie actress Isla Fisher, plays Margaret, an FBI agent who encourages Nobby to seduce a woman for information. Awkward!

Also bringing the LOLs are Rebel Wilson as Nobby's wife Dawn and Penelope Cruz as glamorous baddie Kate.

But one person who won't be shocked by the gross moments is Isla. After all, Sacha's known for his method acting so she's had to get, um, acquainted with all his characters!

"I've had everything – Bruno's Justin Bieber haircut, the Borat moustache. Let's just say that life with Sacha is never boring!" laughs Isla.

"She's had to make love to all of them, but I think her least favourite was Borat," spills Sacha. "Probably the best was Bruno because of the personal hygiene. Bruno showered, shaved, waxed." Er, lucky Isla!

LOOK WHO'S BREAKING BADDER!

FILM

One is the meth-cooking star of Breaking Bad, the other's a bad-ass zombie slayer. So put Aaron Paul and Norman Reedus together for new gangster flick Triple 9 and you can bet there will be no shortage of action!

Aaron, who found fame as Jesse Pinkman in Breaking Bad, plays corrupt ex-cop Gabe Welch. And the actor says the super violent flick will "blow all of your minds".

Meanwhile, Norman – aka The Walking Dead's Daryl Dixon – is also up to no good as Gabe's brother Russell.

"One's a good guy that's generally a bad guy, and one's a bad guy that's generally a good guy," Norman says, comparing his Triple 9 character to gentle giant Daryl. "They both have a particular set of skills to survive in that world."

RHOBH'S FAYE

'Nicole's death changed my life'

Based on the trial of the sports star accused of the brutal 1994 murder of his wife Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman, American Crime Story: The People V. O.J. Simpson looks set to be a gripper from the get-go.

But The Real Housewives Of Beverly Hills star Faye Resnick, played by Connie Britton, is dreading reliving the death of her best friend.

"It was personally the most heartbreaking tragedy that altered my life forever. To lose my loving friend Nicole... is beyond devastating," she says. "The thought of reliving the events of her death and the trial that followed is catastrophic."

Faye's 1994 book Nicole Brown Simpson: The Private Diary Of A Life Interrupted has also been making waves in RHOBH, as it claims Nic was having an affair with show newbie Kathryn Edwards's then-husband Marcus Allen!

Faye writes that Kathryn "turns a blind eye to his fooling around but it hurts her when he does it publicly".

Geordie Shore surgery shock

CHLOE 'I WANT THE MUSCLES PULLED OUT OF MY CHEEKS!'

The Geordie Shore babes are no strangers to the odd cosmetic tweak, but Chloe Ferry is almost unrecognisable following her latest round of nips and tucks! And the bubbly 21-year-old tells NW that her shocking new face is just the beginning, with some seriously gruesome procedures on her wish list!

"I'm planning on getting the muscles pulled out of my cheeks next," she spills. "I want to get my jaw done. I want to get it shaved so I've got a really good jaw line."

"So far I've got fake eyelashes, had my lips done, Botox, eyebrow lift, cheek fillers, veneers, my eyebrows tattooed and hair extensions."

What's more, all the changes happened since the first series ended.

"I got 1ml of [lip] filler in and that wasn't big enough so then I got 2ml and that wasn't big enough, so I got more and then I thought I had too much!" she says. "They're a bit big at the moment. I want to get them dissolved so I can start again. I think I'm addicted, you know?"

Ya think?

"But I've got big boobs and a bum already, so at least I don't need them done," she laughs.

But despite all that surgery, she reckons her day-to-day look is pretty low-maintenance!

"I don't bother brushing my hair, I never get my nails done, I don't even shower that much, to be honest," she spills. "I haven't showered for days!"

Um, ew!

RHOM PETTIFLEUR 'LL RUIN GAMBLE'S WEDDING!

Having branded Gamble Breaux a "black widow" in the Season Three opener, Pettifleur Berenger isn't about to relax her vendetta against the bride-to-be. Indeed, in the next ep of The Real Housewives Of Melbourne, when Gamble excitedly hands over the invite to her nuptials, Pettifleur stuns the Housewives by handing it straight back!

"I can't accept this until you've had another think about why you want me to be there," she tells a devastated Gamble.

Furious, Gina Liano, barks, "Don't do that to her!" before Gamble throws the invite away.

BRANDI snaps!

NW's straight-shooting agony aunt Brandi Glanville!

Hi Brandi,

*My boyfriend's wife called me the other day which was a shock because I didn't even know he had one! We've been together for three months and I'm devastated and angry because I really thought it was going somewhere. He's "so, so sorry" of course and says it's all over, but he didn't want to scare me off. They only split a month before we met even though the relationship was over by the wedding day, but I don't know what to do. I'm so confused. Hannah, Vic

"Fk him. He's gross if he didn't tell you that he was married but recently separated, and it sounds like there was still something going on between them. Men lie to get laid and if the psy is good, they keep lying. Take this as a compliment that you're good in bed and you'll easily find an honest single guy. Boys lie – find yourself a man. You don't need to waste any more time on this loser. You'll always be looking over your shoulder if you stick with him. Move on!"

Hi Brandi,

*I've been with my boyfriend a year but he earns half what I do and I'm wondering if we have a future. I know it's not all about money, but I'd like to be looked after a bit and treated to nice things. We didn't think it would be an issue, but I'm fed up with having to pay for everything. I'd probably even have to pay for my own engagement ring! Am I just being mean or will this resentment get worse? Should I call it quits? Emma, NSW

"Yes, definitely call it quits! I was in the exact same situation a year ago and so much resentment built up I ended up completely emasculating him and we had major fights. If you are already feeling this way it will only get worse. If he at least had some ambition to get ahead and make a better income, then I would say stick with it, but it seems he is OK with the status quo and that is not OK! We should all keep achieving and strive for more in life. Fk the status quo!"

It's no surprise
Emily, Sarah and Lana have had a lot of male
attention lately!

‘Lana, Sarah & Emily’ Our bangin’ bodies after Bachie!

Single Bachelor babes Emily, Lana and Sarah share their diet and fitness tips – and what’s been going on between the sheets!

They may have missed out on love on The Bachelor, but five months after Sam Wood gave Snezana Markoski the final rose, beauties Lana Jeavons-Fellows, Sarah Mackay and Emily Simms are back – and rocking their best bods ever. After all, they’ve been on their A-game in the fitness stakes since filming wrapped.

“I put on a couple of kilos when I was on the show,” explains 26-year old Sarah, who puts the weight gain down to the “bulk Tim Tams readily available” on set! But now they’re strictly off the menu, replaced by “a more balanced diet and exercise up to six times a week”. Wowzers!

And she wasn’t the only one whose body took a post-Bachie battering. Runner-up Lana reckons the stress of being rejected resulted in major changes to her body shape!

“I was holding onto fluid when the show ended,” explains the brunette, who felt so bad about herself she could barely watch the final ep on TV! “I watched the whole show hiding behind my hands.”

Oozing new-found confidence, the girls’ dating success has skyrocketed thanks to their time on the small screen, with 27-year-old Lana saying “guys already know my name or recognise me”.

“I probably get asked out more now!” agrees Emily, 32.

Here, the trim, taut and terrific trio reunite for a catch-up with NW to lift the lid on life after Bachie and how they get their smokin’ bikini bods!

‘We’ll have a nice champagne after this,’ Sarah said of the girlie shoot

Rocking their best bods ever!

Er, hello, Charlie’s Angels!

Left and below: Emily and Lana wear “Triangle”; Sarah wears “lets in circle”; Lana wears “Cotton On”; Sarah wears her own; Emily wears “Seafolly”

'What's the point?' she says of keeping in touch with Sam

Lana

'I tell myself I have a beautiful body'

After dusting herself off, sexy runner-up Lana is rocking a renewed attitude towards life and love

You always look so gorgeous – does it come easy to you? I've always been naturally active and work hard when I train because it makes me feel good. But if looking good was easy, then everyone would look amazing, so it's something that you've gotta work for. Have you ever struggled with body-image issues? Yeah, I think we all go through times when we aren't as happy with our bodies. We women often suffer from body dysmorphia, and I'm guilty of it, too. But it's not healthy to have destructive thoughts about yourself. I try to practise self-love. You just say to yourself, "I am healthy. I do have a beautiful body. This is who I am."

Did being on The Bachelor make you more self-conscious? You need to be comfortable in your body and your mind. Going into the house, I was worried what the other girls would be like, and if I was going to be as pretty as them. I read heaps of negative stuff about my body and myself. You have to laugh it off, but sometimes it does hurt. I struggled with how ready people were to hate.

You and Sarah seem very close. When did you become BFFs? Well, when Sarah and I went to Europe! I had a girlfriend getting married in Greece and Sarah was already going to be there, so we spent time together in Paris. We've become genuine friends.

You've certainly been through a unique experience together... Going through any sort of rejection is difficult and having a public one is even more so. It's like having your girlfriends there when your boyfriend breaks up with you. You don't want all your friends to know why he didn't like you! I had times when I was confused or frustrated. But you grow and learn with every relationship you have in life. I took away a lot of learning experiences.

Are you happy for Sam and Snez? Yes. I would never wish badly on anyone. Would you consider being the next Bachelorette? I'd never say never, but I would have to consider it very seriously. If all the stars aligned and I felt like it was something I wanted to do, then I'd do it.

What's your relationship status? Ah, dating! It's nice going back to doing normal dates where you're just sitting on the grass – no helicopters! It's not about how high your hot-air balloon is. What's the sexiest thing a man can do for you? Make me laugh. Or teach me something – it's important to be with someone who you can learn from. When do you feel at your sexiest? At home with no shoes on, in a robe, with my hair down. Robes are hot!

LANA'S DAY ON A PLATE

Breakfast A fruit-and-vegetable smoothie – like banana, cacao, flaxseeds, blueberries and spinach

Lunch Chicken salad

Dinner Fish and sweet potato with salad

Snacks A handful of almonds or cashews and celery with almond butter

GRIN AND WORK IT

"It has to be something you love doing, otherwise you're not going to be motivated," Lana says of her workout regimen. "I do something active every day and work out probably four times a week. I really love yoga, Pilates and swimming, and I also like to do high-intensity interval training [HIIT] and gym classes."

'I love planks and side planks. They tone your core,' says Lana

Sarah came third in the quest for Sam's heart

Sarah 'I've hired Blake Lively's trainer!'

She's landed a new job and a new bod. All that's missing is a new man – and she's willing to be the next Bachelorette to find him!

You look amazing – what's your secret? Thanks! I've just signed up with Don Saladino, a New York-based personal trainer who works with Blake Lively and Scarlett Johansson. We do Skype sessions and train six days a week. I just want to feel at my prime and like my ultimate self. My sister is also a personal trainer and she trains me, too – she's pretty full-on.

That's a lot of working out! I enjoy getting up in the morning and going to the gym. It puts you in a good frame of mind. I never go through a phase where I can't drag myself to the gym.

What's your dating life been like since the show? I've just gone back to my usual self – going out with my girlfriends to bars. If someone comes along, I'm ready. I'm definitely ready. Any standout dates? There have been several. One guy took me to Sculpture By The Sea [at Sydney's Bondi Beach], then we had a beautiful lunch in the afternoon – it was right up my alley. I've also been out for a lot of dinners.

How did you feel when Sam and Snez got engaged? I was excited. I love Snez – we got on really well in the house – and I think Sam is a genuine person. I only wish them happiness. Only the people in a relationship can know if they're ready for that commitment – so if their hearts are into it, then why not.

Are you open to being the next Bachelorette? Absolutely. I'm open to everything that comes my way. I'm still on the search to find love. If an opportunity comes about, yeah, I would definitely look into it.

What makes a guy hot? He has to be driven, ambitious and charismatic – and good-looking helps! Preferably tall, dark and handsome.

What makes you go weak at the knees? Chest hair! Ha ha.

When do you feel at your sexiest? When I'm in a grey T-shirt, at home, no make-up.

When you're not working out, what keeps you busy? I've just started working at Melbourne Victory Football Club as the new commercial partnership manager. I absolutely love it.

SARAH'S DAY ON A PLATE

Breakfast Two boiled eggs and an eggwhite, or a cup of porridge with berries

Lunch Fish, sweet potato and vegies

Dinner Chicken salad

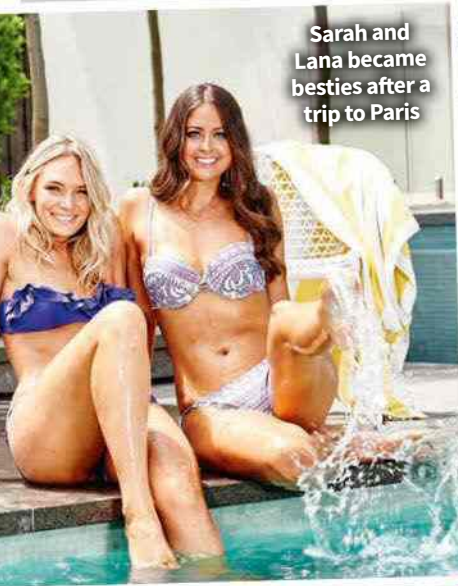

Snacks Banana and Greek yoghurt

Yoga 'keeps everything nice and tight', says Sarah, who's shed 6kg since the show

MIXING IT UP

"I do a lot of HIIT sessions and cardio interval training on the cross-trainer or treadmill," says Sarah. "I also do lots of squats, sit-ups and donkey kicks to focus on the lower body and tone up the butt and legs."

Sarah and Lana became besties after a trip to Paris

'It's a really nice escape route,' Sarah says of getting physical

Emily quit the show – and Sam! – in episode nine

Emily

'I feel sexiest after a workout'

Emily may have sworn off dating shows, but she certainly hasn't given up on dating or reality TV!

You've got a killer bod! How often do you work out?

I try and do something active every day and I workout five days a week. Thankfully, I build up muscle tone quite quickly. I'm naturally a bit of a stick, so working out helps me not look so skinny!

So you're one of these lucky people who doesn't put on weight?

I don't like to look super skinny – and I am more prone to looking that way than the other way. That look is just as bad as being overweight. So that's the main reason why I exercise. Eating well is important, but I still eat bad things! But, generally, I try to eat the right kind of food and drink lots of water.

When do you feel at your sexiest?

It sounds really weird, but after a workout. Or if I'm dressed up and going out somewhere.

Has being on The Bachelor affected your love life?

It hasn't really made any difference. I get asked out on Instagram probably more than I used to – people send private messages! I actually started dating someone that way. He was lovely and I still catch up with him from time to time.

Would you ever consider looking for love on a reality show again?

Never ever, ever, ever! It's too manipulated. It's just not real, and I don't want to be a part of that again. The only reality show I would consider is Dancing With The Stars. It looks like so much fun and it's a family-friendly show – there's no bitchiness on it.

Has anyone high-profile shown an interest in dating you since the show?

Well, yes. One of them I have dated a few times! I've previously dated some people who are in the public eye. But nothing substantial, not a main relationship – just dated here and there.

Do you want to settle down? Yes, I do – I'm nearly 33!

Have you caught up with any of the guys from The Bachelorette? The guys

I've probably spoken to the most are Davey Lloyd and David Witko.

What makes a man hot? I like a guy who has enough confidence to carry himself well and know who he is, but isn't cocky or arrogant. They also have to be tall. And funny – if they can't make you laugh, then what's the point?

What makes you go weak at the knees?

I like romance. I'm a bit corny like that!

Work-wise, what are you doing at the moment?

I have a soy candle business, I'm a make-up artist and I'm doing some blogging as well, which keeps me busy. I'm also signed with a modelling agency, so hopefully I'll get some work through them, too. But I'm also looking for another job. I used to work in advertising, but I'm looking more to go into the media side of things now. I've got my fingers crossed with something in TV.

'It's my mission for this year to become a yogi!' she says

SET YOUR OWN PACE

"I have a personal trainer who I see once a week and the rest of the time I do my own thing," says Emily. "I jump on my exercise bike at home every day and I also do The Tracy Anderson Method Mat Workout DVD [which involves dance-style exercises]. I also walk and run with my mum and dad's pup."

'Generally speaking, I'm pretty OK with who I am,' says Emily

EMILY'S DAY ON A PLATE

Breakfast A banana and a piece of toast

Lunch A fruit-and-vegetable smoothie – carrot, cucumber, ginger and a base of coconut water, mango, berries, chia seeds, oranges, pineapple, lime

Dinner Gnocchi or a stir-fry

Snacks Crackers with dip, chocolate

New bods, new love!

Bec Chin

Hooking up with personal trainer Dean Vee has done wonders for the former Bachelor hopeful. Nutritionist Bec, 28, has lost 3kg since meeting the hunky boxer, who's trained Hugh Jackman. "My friends think I look like I've lost more than that but I wasn't even trying to lose weight," she says. "I've just been eating healthily and controlling my portion sizes, as well as doing regular exercise."

Sam says she was eating chocolate 'every single day' on The Bachelor

Sam Frost

She didn't just gain a boyfriend in Sasha Mielczarek, Australia's first ever Bachelorette also gained one sizzling bod! The 26-year-old radio host lost 12kg after leaving the Bachelor mansion in 2014, thanks to a total diet and exercise overhaul. "I walk up to 7km a day, I do at least two gym classes a week and I love boxing – it works everything!" the star tells NW.

Snezana Markoski

Bride-to-be Snez, 35, dropped five kilos thanks to her man's 28-day health and fitness plan. "So glad I've been doing Sam's 28 program," she wrote on Instagram alongside a snap of her hot bikini bod, which Sam reckons she's worked hard for. "She's tough, she does boxing and circuits," he says.

'I didn't have a single bit of junk,' Sam says of her diet during her second stint on the Bachie

The sassy Melbourne Housewife's court is now in session

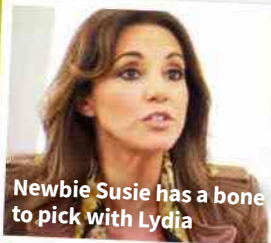

'Susie's rift with Lydia is partly my fault!'

"We've seen how angry Susie is with Lydia and there are reasons for this, which will come out as the series progresses. But I'll tell you that I'll be shown having a chat with Lydia in the near future, where I reveal to her that part of Susie's angst is due to how I was treated in the first season.

"I've been friends with Susie for a long time and I used to tell her about how Lydia was treating me. But Lydia also apparently said some things after Susie left her first husband – that she's a bad mother and things like that. I don't think Lydia remembers saying it, and has told me that she's never spoken to Susie's ex so she doesn't know how that rumour started.

"They're pretty cutting things that she's supposed to have said, so I'm not surprised Susie is upset.

"Despite what Lydia says, Susie wouldn't be jealous of Lydia – she's not a jealous girl!"

Newbie Susie has a bone to pick with Lydia

Villain of the week

"Lydia betrayed Pettifleur by telling Gamble about the 'black widow' comment. She created the headaches and stepped back and watched it unfold. 'Lydia's relished stirring the pot,' says Gina

GINA'S VERDICT

"He's only in his 20s! But she's been around long enough to know what she wants. I think she's keen to get married and, as you get older, it's not always that easy to find that companionship.

"So I guess she's thinking, 'Why wait?' If she's found that companionship, and he's willing to give it to her, then hopefully they'll be happy together.

"They should get a prenup though, because it's got the ingredients to get a bit messy, hasn't it? You never know, he might just be a big fan who's fallen for her – he might even be gay! Well, you only live once – enjoy! I hope he looks after her and is mature enough to satisfy her."

If you're looking at it from the monkey's perspective, I can understand why he would want a second one to keep the other one company.

Leo's speed-dating diary

Leo kicks off the BAFTAs weekend with the first of many blonde babes. The actor was seen partying the night away with receptionist Ella Walsh at The Box Soho nightclub.

Sunday, Feb 14

BAFTA in hand, Best Actor-winner Leo pulled some smooth moves on MTV presenter, and blonde number two, Laura Whitmore as they partied together at the city's luxe Rosewood hotel.

Leonardo DiCaprio is just as famous for his skills with the ladies as he is for his acting – and the week surrounding London's BAFTA Awards, he was spotted charming a different beauty almost every night!

Tuesday, Feb 16

Dining at posh eatery Scott's then partying at club Project? Leo's living the life. He hit the d-floor with a posse of pro dancers including Jessica Derrick, the girlfriend of Coronation Street's Chris Fountain.

Wednesday, Feb 17

Every ladies' man needs a day off, but it's a little ironic Leo chose to take his on, er, hump day. Rather than catching up on sleep, he took the only long-term lady in his life, mum Irmelin, sightseeing.

Monday, Feb 15

New day, new squeeze. After leaving Chiltern Firehouse, Leo partied on at his hotel with a bunch of models, including Roxy Horner. A source dishes to The Sun that the pair were "hooking up" all night!

Thursday, Feb 18

After splashing thousands of dollars at boutique nightclub Toy Room in Mayfair, The Revenant star was spotted climbing into a car full of giggling girls, including this mystery brunette.

Di Charlie - CAN WE MOVE IN?

In case you needed another reason to want to go home with Sons Of Anarchy babe Charlie Hunnam, he's just gone and snagged himself a luxe Mediterranean-inspired mansion in the Hollywood Hills!

Setting the hunky actor back a whopping $3.9 million, the four-bedroom abode features everything from a rustic kitchen to European-style courtyards. Yes, plural. Anyone else getting all of the romantic feels?

We can't decide which is dreamier – him or the house!

This sunken space is made for napping

A plunge pool and outdoor fireplace? Jel!

Breakfast at Charlie's, everyone!

Natch Hills has come knocking – Kylie is practically the prez of Instagram!

Friday, Feb 19

Toasting the success of his babe binge, Leo knocked back Belvedere vodka in his own private booth at Mayfair nightclub Drama, where we're certain he made more female friends.

Playing muse to Marc

Is there nothing Lady Gaga can't do? The flashy singer and actress can now add catwalk modelling to her growing list of skills!

Yup, the blonde bombshell killed it as she strutted her stuff for the Marc Jacobs Fall 2016 collection at New York Fashion Week on February 18, rocking sky-high platforms and an oversized coat. Way to slay, Gaga!

'I was so honored to be one of his beautiful creatures tonight,' Gaga wrote on Instagram of the Marc Jacobs NYFW show

VOTE 1 HILLARY-KYLIE!

US presidential hopeful Hillary Clinton has worked out how to get down with the cool kids – by recruiting teen queen Kylie Jenner to her campaign!

"She thinks it will help her connect to a younger demographic," says a source. "[Kylie] has exactly what Hillary needs.

She's 18 and she has over 50 million followers on Instagram."

Kylie's sis Kendall Jenner also showed her support recently when she posted a pic of herself in a Clinton campaign tee with the hashtag #ImWithHer.

It seems the whole klan is!

'Shirt by @themarcbjacob. History by @hillaryclinton,' Kenny posted on February 18

CELEBS GET COCKY EDITION

"It's a very handsome dk. It's just as veiny as his arms."

Adam DeVine saw an awful lot of co-star Zac Efron while they were making Mike And Dave Need Wedding Dates.

"I think it's time to find a hot nerd. With a really big penis."

Sounds like Britney Spears has finally narrowed down the, er, traits she wants in a man.

"Everybody wants to see the D!"

Dakota Johnson vows to make her Fifty Shades Darker co-star Jamie Dornan go full-frontal!

REVENGE OF THE NERDS

Forget the Hermès Birkin, there's a new kind of arm candy in Tinseltown! Yup, the latest must-have accessory for any self-respecting A-list gal is a Tubby – that's a tech-savvy hubby, for those of us not down with geek speak. They're next-level smart, have cash coming out the wazoo and can even build you that anti-ageing machine you've always wanted. Maybe...

EMMA WATSON AND WILLIAM KNIGHT

She's one of the hottest chicks in Hollywood but geeky tech-whiz William Knight, 35 – who rakes in $195,000 a year as a senior manager at multinational software firm Medallia – and his big ol' brain have totally charmed Emma, 25! "Mack is just a normal, down-to-earth guy who has nothing to do with Hollywood, and Emma loves that," says a source. "They're really happy with each other."

MIRANDA KERR AND EVAN SPIEGEL

Emma isn't the only one to fall head-over-heels for a brainiac with a bulging, er, bank balance. Last year, Miranda, 32, found love with Snapchat's CEO and co-founder Evan Spiegel, 25! But despite his personal fortune of close to $3 billion, the Aussie model reckons it took more than money to win her over. "We were really good friends for a long time before we started dating," she says.

DEADPOOL DOPPELGANGER

With Marvel flick Deadpool killing it at the box office, it's no wonder funnyman James Corden wanted in on the action!

The Late Show host and the flick's hero Ryan Reynolds rolled out a side-splitting skit, which saw James pitch himself as a range of different sidekicks, including Potato Man and Strawberry Shortfuse.

But in the end, the hilarious duo decided two Deadpools are better than one!

Double the

WHEN...

...denim dungarees and braces were in? Anne Hathaway does! The photogenic Oscar-winner posted this super-cute shot from way back when. "TGIFBF Aw, look at this little dork..." she captioned the pic. We'd recognise that winning smile anywhere!

SERENA WILLIAMS AND ALEXIS OHANIAN

Serena Williams, 34, is in a red-hot romance with Reddit co-founder Alexis Ohanian, 32. Rumours that the pair were dating began after they were spotted holding hands at an LA gym – and couples who work out together stay together, right? Doesn't hurt that their combined worth is sitting at a comfortable $207 million either! Us? Jelly? Much?

WHITE HOT

Attending the Grammy Awards on February 15, Chrissy looked to the gorge Valentino gown Kim wore to an awards show last October.

PRETTY IN PINK

Chrissy went for a feminine blush ensemble at the Sports Illustrated Swimsuit Fan Festival in Miami on February 17. Months earlier, Kim wore a similar look to lunch in LA.

BLACK OUT

The mum-to-be ditched the pink for black at the Sports Illustrated Swimsuit 2016 Swim BBQ later that day. This time she channelled Kim filming a segment for Keeping Up With The Kardashians last year.

Matchy mamas

Well, now we know where Chrissy Teigen's been getting her pregnancy style inspo from! The model – who'll welcome her first child with hubby John Legend this year – has been taking sartorial lessons from maternity minx Kim Kardashian.

Yep, in an interview for the February issue of InStyle magazine, Chrissy confirms that she went to well-heeled mum-of-two for bump-styling advice.

"Kim told me to go stretchy," she tells the mag. "I always wanted to be the person who showed off the bump because it looks beautiful and I think you should embrace it."

We couldn't agree more!

JON & KRISTEN

THESE BARS HOLD A PAINFUL SECRET

To share in this you'll need to ride the bike with MS. Embedded with a scattering of ball-bearings, they'll cause you discomfort, then pain, and before too long you'll lose all feeling. When you've had enough you can simply let go. Lucky you.
